Appreciating the Great Outdoors

Yes, that’s me on the cover of this issue and I’m doing one of my favorite things – hiking in the mountains. I grew up hiking in the Adirondacks and now spend my time mostly in the Rockies and Cascades. But wherever I am, I know that I owe my love of the outdoors to my parents who spent most weekends with me and my siblings hiking, canoeing, camping and, in season, skiing.

Many of today’s youngsters don’t have the privilege of being introduced to the outdoors at an early age. This is a challenge for all of us who are concerned about the next generation of natural resource stewards. Whether as parents, friends or managers, we need to do our best to help young people leave behind their gadgets for awhile and get acquainted with nature. At the same time, it is essential that we keep Smokey Bear part of the outdoor experience. Folks my age, both rural and urban, are pretty much aware of Smokey and what he stands for, but it will take effort to keep him and his message alive among the younger generation.

Those of us at Woodland Catalog enjoy providing support materials to help children learn about Smokey. And, of course, the not-so-young need some reminding about fire prevention, too. With summer upon us, we look forward to working with you to make sure everyone does his or her part to prevent wildfires when hiking, camping or just enjoying a backyard barbeque. Enjoy and be safe!

The Big Burn – Teddy Roosevelt & the Fires That Saved America
New in 2009, this is a 324-page history and analysis by Pulitzer Prize-winning reporter Timothy Egan. The author skillfully narrates the struggles of overmatched rangers against the largest fire in U.S. history – and its lasting impact on how we protect and manage our forests to this day. A great read!

B-428 (Hardback) $24.95

The Big Burn – The Northwest’s Great Forest Fire of 1910
Additional pages of photos have been added to this special centennial edition of the classic pictorial history of the 1910 fires. 108 pages of amazing photos, sketches, maps and details about the great fire and the heroes it produced – including Edward Pulaski. A “must” read for anyone with an interest in fire history.

B-435 (Paperback) $12.95

The Monster Reared His Ugly Head
Jim Paxon was spokesman for the Incident Management Team on Arizona’s ½-million acre Rodeo-Chediski Fire in 2002. This monster destroyed 465 homes and six businesses. Paxon tells the dramatic story and illustrates it lavishly. Even more, this book includes an excellent explanation of fire ecology and changes through time. 217 pp., paperback. Autographed.

B-445 $24.95

Young Men and Fire
Norman MacLean—author of A River Runs Through It—spent the last years of his life writing this masterpiece. It is a 301-page, hardcover book detailing the tragic Mann Gulch fire that claimed the lives of 12 young smokejumpers and a fire guard. Warning: It’s a tough book to set down once started.
